Harman Kardon® BDP 10

Harman Kardon announces the release of its very first Blu-ray Disc™ player, the BDP 10. Digital Lifestyle magazine tested the new player and was clearly surprised by the outstanding picture quality, the design and the excellent cost/performance ratio, grading the player with "great" and calling it a real "price tip." The player supports not only Blu-ray discs but also DVDs and CDs, a feature that allows it to keep up with all other products on the market. However, this one comes with a special feature: the BD-Live™ capability, which allows you to download ringtones, games and other content from the Internet directly to your player and marks a new era of players.

Harman Kardon BDP 10

The BDP 10 is Harman Kardon's first Blu-ray Disc player and comes with a wide-bandwidth component video output, a front-panel USB jack for external USB hard drives and an RJ-45 Ethernet jack for easy connection to a broadband network. In addition, the player features a two-channel analog audio output, two digital outputs and a composite video output. This player is not only a Blu-ray Disc player. It also marks a new generation of players with the BD-Live interactivity, which allows you to download games, ringtones and other content from the Internet directly to the BDP 10.
